

MUSEUM OF THE FORGOTTEN WARRIORS

NEWSLETTER #7 September 2018

Dear Volunteers,

Happy fall, everyone! So glad to have summer officially in the rear view mirror. Still a bit warm, but the mornings and evenings are beautiful. We have had a really busy month at the museum, from a flag retirement ceremony on 9/11 to our first BBQ in the new patio.

The Combat Veterans Motorcycle Association had a poker run and presented me with a poker chip with Dann's name on it. The run was dedicated to him. Thank you, guys. That means a lot to me. Mr. Bert Johnson finished painting scenes on the first helicopter blade, and Fred Young signed it for us. It is hanging in the patio. The next one will be painted soon. We had some help from the navy reserve hanging the blade and a visit from a 99-year-old Tuskegee airman. The navy guys will be coming back in October to have a workday and paint the barn. The barn is looking a bit tacky next to the new patio!

A group of young future Marines visited and had a BBQ, the veteran's group from Yuba College came for a tour, and we have continued to stay busy with people just coming by on Saturdays.

The museum received donations in the memory of Dan Dirks. Thank you, Patty for choosing us.

The NRG will begin working on the SR-71 start cart on October 20. We continue to receive items from people in memory of family members who served, and we find a spot for them. I won't say anything about dressing mannequins . . . sorry Don!

Thank you to everyone who pushed through this month. The month kept us all hopping.

The very most important event of this month was the arrival of Ainsley Emma Spear, Ceder and Erin's first and Dann and my first grandchild. Needless to say, she is perfect and beautiful.

October 6 is the start of our winter hours, 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., and our quarterly board meeting is schedule for this Thursday, September 27, at 3:00 p.m. All are welcome.
